Report on:

- Addressing Advanced Learners
- Slow learners

Advanced Learners: Students with extraordinary potential are encouraged to chisel their capability by presenting various topics of interest through ppts, write papers and publish them in various journals. They gain more confidence as well as experience and in turn encourage the slow learners to push themselves further.

Slow Learners: Slow learners are identified and personally mentored by catering to their doubts and difficulties. They are sent simple to follow study material and given extra coaching as and when required so that their gap with above average performers is moderated. They give written assignments which are checked minutely. Sometimes the slow learners transgress their category by sheer hard work and become advanced learners by the next session.

Report on:

- Addressing Advanced Learners
- Slow learners

Advanced Learners—Some of the Advanced learners were taught to write Research Papers on various themes related to the units prescribed in their syllabus. They handled them very efficiently. One of my students got her paper published in UGC –Care listed journal. These learners were directed to give extempore to guide slow learners. Group discussions on various topics were also made in the class. Quality PPTs were also prepared by such students. They were always constant source of inspiration for Slow Learners.

Slow Learners— Slow learners were motivated to write something creative in the class on regular basis. They were also guided individually to write Research Papers and some of slow learners later on reported to be in the line of Intermediate learners. They were also encouraged to participate in Group Discussions off and on. They were guided to prepare PPTs so that their writing skills may improve. Due to the constant motivation and support, these learners learnt to cope up with their counterparts i.e. the Advanced Learners.
