Water scarcity is one of the foremost challenges being faced by more than 1 million Indians annually. Water crisis has not only affected urban and rural population but it has also majorly affected the agricultural sector and eco-system at large. According to an article in Business Times, India has only 4% of global fresh water resources serving over 1.3 billion people, nearly 18% of global population. Some of the major causes of water scarcity are drying of rivers & reservoirs and exacerbated by irregular & deficient rains. Lack of proper awareness among the
